A CONFERENCE OF GOVERNORS.

A Practical Method of Discussing the Wrongs of the Southern States-A Conference of the Governors of All the States Proposed-A Meeting Between the Chiefs of Kentucky and Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2, 1874. For some time past Governor John C. Brown has been in receipt of communications, numerously signed, from representative and influential citi. zens of the several Southern States, urging him to confer with the Governors of other States upon the subject of the proposed convention of democratic Governors as soon after the Chattanooga Republican Convention as practicable, with view of meeting and resisting the anticipated incendiary pronunciamento. In response to these urgent appeals, Governor Brown put bimself in communication with Governor Lestie, of Kentucky, and an extensive telegraphic and epistolary correspondence finally re-sulted in a personal conference between the Governors of Kentucky and Tennessee in this city today, Governor Leslie having reached the city by the morning train from Louisville, accompanied by Mr. Matterson, of the Courier-Journal, and Mr. J. Stoddard Johnson, of Frankfort,

At the conference between these gentlemen the matter was duly weighed and considered, and the conclusion arrived at was substantially as fol-

"That the original proposition was not feasible nor desirable for various reasons, among others that such a movement should have the hearty concurrence of all the democratic States, whereas the Governor of Virginia questions the propriety of it and the Governor of Texas declines. Further, that there was at least the possi-bility of such a discussion of the griev-ances of the Southern States which might operate injuriously instead of beneficially, while simply serving the purpose of dignifying the manifesto of the Chattaneoga conclave. That from its essential sectional and partisan character such a meeting would be treated as sectional and partisan, and so it would be obviously futtle. In lieu of this original proposition, therefore, it was agreed at the conference to-day and is suggested that there be a conference of Governors of all the democratic States North and South, together, with representatives, democratic citizens of influence, from States not democratic, or possibly of the Governors of all the States, irrespective of party, with a view to a calm, earnest and patriotic discussion of the broader questions of the conflict between the State and federal jurisdictions."

KELLOGG'S SECOND STATEMENT. A Reply to the Criticisms of the State

Bondholders. NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 2, 1874.

In reply to a criticism that only a reduction of the State expenses under the present State government has been made at the expense of the bondholders. Governor Kellogg has addressed the following supplemental statement to the Picc.

The expenses of the State government last year were $411,000 less than the expenses of 1872, and $505,000 less than the expenses of 1871. This year the expenses will show a still greater reduction. It is true that the tax of four mills for general purposes remains nuchanged, but this tax has heretotore never been sufficient to meet the expenses of the State government. In 1850 the amount of warrants issued in excess of receipts from the four mill general fund tax was $750,000; in 1870 it was general fund tax was $750,000; in 1870 it was $888,000, in 1871 it was $1,497,000 and in 1872 it was $1,416,000.

sss, 600, in 1871 it was $1,497,690 and in 1872 it was $1,116,000.

It is by this excess of warrants over receipts that a large portion of the floating debt of the State has been piled up. We are endeavoring to confine the expenses within the receipts from the four mill tax, and have so far succeeded that there remained only a balance of $129,000 in &cess of expenditures over receipts has year. This year it is beneved that the receipts will nearly or quite cover the expenses.

One of the constitutional amendments to be voted in November renders it impossible for any State government hereafter to issue warrants in excess of its receipts, and this cut off one great source of the present financial difficulties of the State.

SAD SPORT.

Connecticut Contleman, at Greenfield Hill, After a Day's Sport in the Fields. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 3, 1874.

Poelings of sorrow and regret were awakened in this city late last evening by a story oriefly told that Mr. Michael Leverty, a well known resident, had been instantly killed by his own gun while in pursuit of game at Greenfield Hill. At first the story was not credited, but when at two o'clock this morning Mr. Leverty's mangled body was brought in, the terrible truth spoke for itself. Early yesterday morning, Mr. Leverty, in company with John, Stevenson, Jr.; Samuel Benedict, and James Leverty started for Greenfield Hill for a day's gunning. The day was passed pleasantly, and they were successful in shooting their game, principally wild pigeons. The deceased was especially successful, and the party returned well stocked, and began preparations at five o'clock for returning home. After harnessing up, Mr. Stevenson gave his gun to a boy to discharge. stevenson gave his gau to a boy to discharge, thinking it unsafe to carry it in the wagon loaded; Mr. James Leverly did the same. While putting in the remaining articles deceased thought he would discharge his gan minself. It was then lying in the bottom of the wagon with the muzzle loward the rear. The deceased reached his hand in took hold of the gun by the muzzle and was drawing it out, when the hammer caught and the gan was discharged, the contents entering Mr. Leverly's right oreast. He curried and placed his hands heavily on James' shoulders and said, "Oh! Jim." The latter saw the blood flowing, but before he could do anything Michael was dead. He died standing. He was removed to a house near by and br. Dennison, of Fairfield, was summoned, but it was too late.

The remainder of the party then came to this city and, procuring the services of an undertaker, city and, procuring the services of an undertaker proceeded to Greenfield and brought the body to its lare home, arriving there as stated. sion and was universally respected. He was thirty-seven years of age and leaves a wife and three children, two boys and a girl, to mourn his loss. The inneral will take place at St. Augusting Roman Catholic church, on Monday, at ten o'clock and Del Puente in the cast. The celebrated Vokes Family will play, for the last time in America, at Daly's Fifth Avenue Theatre, at a grand matinée to be given them by Mr. Daly on Monday, October 12. Sunday concerts will be given this evening at the Grand Opera House and Park Theatre. The principal artists of the Strakosch Italian operatroupe appear at the former place.

A grand testimonial concert was given Theodore Thomas last evening by the citizens of Chicago, and proved a perfect ovation. McCormick Hall, the largest in the West, was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, and was crowded with an enthusiastic audience.

There is to be a grand manugural matinde of the San Francisco Minstrels, at their new opera house, on Saturday afternoon next at two o'clock, when Messrs, Birch, Wambold and Backus will, for the first time oy davlight, entertain the public with two hours of genuine wit and fan.

Mile. Emma Albant is reported by cable to have sailed from Liverpool yesterday (Saturday) by the Bothnia, of the Conard line. She will make her debut in opera at the Academy soon after her arrival. Mile. Albani was the brilliant feature of the musical jestival just concluded in Liverpool. "The School for Scandal" will only be played up to the matinge on Saturday at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. On Saturday night Mr. Daly will offer an entirely new bill, comprising a new comedy by himself, entitled "The Two Widows," a dramatic embodiment of lying tableaux by the company of Longfellow's new and exquisitely poetic work, called "The flagging of the Crane." and also an entirely new adaptation of Speridan's mock tragedy, "The Critic."

The Olympic Theatre, in addition to the variety attractions of a strong company, has in preparation a succession of noverties which will add greatly to the entertainment. This week a ballet of thirty ladies is to be introduced, the entire corps being new to the New York stage. Next week a complete novelty and a beautiful and striking picture, called . The Living Fountain; or, the Bath of the Innocents," will be introduced. The name is descriptive of a work of art both chaste and lascinating.

A grand concert and dramatic entertainment will be given on Monday, October 12, in Steinway Hall, which has been gratuitously tendered for the occasion, for the benefit of the Free Training Schools of the Women's Educational and Industrial Society. A number of leading musical and other artists have been secured, and it is the intention of the lady managers to provide one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season. The large attendance at the tree cooking classes of the schools every Monday and Wed esday evinces the degree of interest which the abors of this excelleat institution are awakening.

On the 20th of October a very select entertainment is to be given at the Academy of Music in aid of the Foundling Asylum. The wants of this most excellent institution are exceedingly pressing. No better object could appeal to the charitable. All the managers of the different theatres have voinnteered their services, and the whole affair will be under the man gement of Mr. Augustin Daty. A matince is to be given, commencing at tweive o'clock, and ending at six. Three hundred of our most prominent citizens have volunteered to act as an honorary committee. The programme has yet to be arranged; no doubt it will prove most exceptional and entertaining.
